

THE NEWS IN BRIEF.

2906 Soldiers and Sailors

Dead as a Result of the War with Spain
—22 Officers and 222 Men Killed at Santiago.

Commissioner of Pensions H. C. Evans states that up to Sept. 30 the war with Spain had caused the loss of the lives of 2906 American soldiers and sailors. He further declared that the statistics of his office show that the percentage of deaths in camps from disease during last summer was much less than during the civil war.

Commissioner Evans said: "During the civil war 40,000 men were killed in battle and 300,000 perished in camps and prisons. From official figures covering from May 10 to Sept. 30, I find that the total number of deaths as a result of the war with Spain was 2906. Of this number 107 were officers. At Santiago the loss of life was 22 officers and 222 men. Since the battles on Cuban soil, 61 men have died of wounds received in service. The total number of American soldiers that have died in camps from disease are 80 officers and 2520 privates. This is remarkable in view of the terrible climatic disadvantages, and it fully verifies the soldier's adage that disease kills more men than bullets. There have been 600 claims for pensions filed to date as a result of the war. In the Cuban campaign the loss of so many officers is accounted for by the fact that the Spanish sharpshooters hid in the trees and dense foliage, used smokeless powder and picked off the officers with ease."

Commissioner Evans says that the loss of life resulting from the destruction of the Maine in Havana harbor will be placed on the same basis as mortality in battle. He holds that the general law providing for indemnity to sailors and soldiers in the federal service will apply to the explosion at Havana.

The Sine-Wave System of Telegraphy.

Gen. Greeley, the chief of the United States signal service, has made a report upon the sine-wave system of telegraphy discovered by two young physicists, Prof. A. C. Crehore and Lieut. Geo. O. Squier. Under the sine-wave system words were sent and received over a line 1100 miles long at a rate of over 9000 words per minute. Under this system the speed of the Wheatstone commercial receiver was increased as much as threefold when operated under identical conditions. The superiority of sine-wave having been decided by experimental apparatus, the next step was to construct transmitters for actual commercial conditions. Two special apparatus were devised, one for operating land lines and the other for the transmission of messages over long cables. The cable transmitter was completed and the land transmitter advanced when the late war interrupted progress, which has only lately been renewed by direction of General Greeley. The first practical tests of the cable transmitter have just been made over the cable between New York city and Canso, which had a length of 827 knots. Gen. Greeley says he has no hesitation in expressing his opinion that the sine-wave system, which also admits of easy duplexing, will, within a year or two increase very materially the working capacity of every cable to which it is applied.

Isaac Stetson, the Dalton, Mass., Hermit, Shot Through the Head.

Isaac Stetson, the hermit living in the mountains five miles from Dalton, Mass., was found dead 40 rods from his hovel Friday. He had been shot through the head with a 32 caliber revolver. The official belief that he was fired upon from ambush, and that the key to his house was taken from his pocket and the house entered. Stetson had property valued at $50,000, but he had lived as a hermit the past 40 years. Two years ago, during one of Stetson's visits to Pittsfield, some one broke into his house and stole bank books and papers. Stetson has one brother living in Atlanta, another in Hawley, and a sister, Mrs. Martha Barber of Cummington.

Kansas Farmers Independent.

Kansas farmers refuse to sell wheat at present prices. This year's crop of 60,000,000 bushels, together with 10,000,000 to 20,000,000 bushels of old wheat is piled up in the grain elevators, both for higher prices. This has resulted in the closing of many mills in the state and has materially affected railroad traffic. Several months ago the Kansas railroads made preparations for a big rush in wheat shipments, but their trains are now going empty. Thousands of freight cars were hauled up and repaired for use, but they have not been needed. The farmers of the state are financially independent, having paid their debts from previous crops, and they can afford to hold their wheat indefinitely.

Methodist Church to Raise $20,000,000.

Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church, who have been holding their semi-annual conference at Springfield, Mass., voted Monday to call for a "twentieth century thank offering" of $20,000,000 from the members of the Methodist church. The funds will be collected at intervals before Jan. 1, 1901, and the sum wanted is expected to be received by that date. It was voted to devote the money to the improvement of educational and charitable institutions now maintained by the Methodist Episcopal church. None of it will be used for the establishment of new institutions.

Close of the Omaha Exposition.

The Omaha exposition closed Monday night. The enterprise has proved a great success and will very likely be continued in some form or other next year. The most popular scheme seems to be to make it a colonial exposition, in which the products of the new colonies acquired in the Spanish war may be exhibited. A little less than $2,000,000 represents the receipts, while the exposition cost about $1,450,000. This leaves something like $400,000 surplus to be divided among the stockholders. The attendance was 2,625,898.

Postmaster Charged with Stealing $6000.

Frank E. Foss, postmaster at Hill, N. H., was arrested Monday by United States Marshal Clark Campbell upon a complaint, sworn out by the United States District Attorney Hamblett, charging the misappropriation of public funds amounting to more than $6000. Foss made no resistance, but was taken by surprise, as he had hoped to fix the shortage up without criminal proceedings.

The navy department received a telegram Monday reporting the arrival at Bahia, Brazil, of the battleship Oregon and her consort, the battleship Iowa. Ice was reported as forming on the Yukon river as early as Oct. 11, and a number of vessels on sandbars in the stream were in danger of being wrecked.

Mr. Rockefeller's latest offer of $2,000,000 to the Chicago university, conditioned on the raising of an equal amount from other donors before Jan. 1, 1900, is likely to be realized. President Harper says $1,500,000 of the amount has already been promised.

WILL TAKE PHILIPPINES.

Our Commissioners Demand Entire Group.

America Willing to Pay Spain's "Pacific Expenditures"—Spain Will Probably Reject the Proposal.

The Spanish-American Peace commission sat for an hour Monday in Paris. The American commissioners submitted their proposals in regard to the Philippines. The reading disclosed the fact that the United States government had determined to possess for itself certain territory and parcels of land bounded by and lying within such parallels of latitude and longitude as mark the limits of the Philippine Archipelago. The United States does not propose assuming the Philippine debt of $40,000,000, but is willing to be responsible to Spain for a sum of money equal to the actual expenditures by Spain in the Philippines for the advantage of the islands and for the good of their people, for permanent betterments and for improvements both physical and mental.

The reading of the presentment specifies that the United States will reimburse Spain to the extent of her "pacific expenditures" made in the archipelago. This phrase "pacific expenditures" is employed to differentiate the expenditures by Spain in combating insurrections in the Philippines. The one is felt by the American commissioners to be a fair burden upon the acquiring power, while the other and latter class of expenditure is held to have been logically assumed by Spain as the inevitable hazard to a nation resorting to arms to enforce order in its own territory. Such is the determinative, and therefore the vital, portion of the presentment made by the American commissioners, and it is to be observed that, while the main proposition as to possession and financial responsibility is clear and definite, many details have been left to the developments of the discussion between the two commissions. Thus, while the Spaniards are quite certain that the United States intends to reimburse them for "pacific expenditures," they remark that they are not enlightened as to whether the American expect to indemnify the Spanish obligations to the extent of "pacific expenditures" in the archipelago or whether they will hand Spain a lump sum of gold large enough to cover Spain's outlay so designated.

The two commissions adjourned until Friday. Statements from Spanish sources are to the effect that Spain will reject the proposal of our commissioners.

REED THE BUNCOCOER

Escaped from an Officer at Worcester Sunday Night.

He Had Previously Forfeited $17,500 in Bail—Was Under Sentence to Serve 11 to 14 Years in Prison.

John Reed, the notorious confidence man, who operated so extensively throughout New England in the latter part of 1897, has again secured his liberty. This time he did not secure his freedom by defaulting his bail, as in previous cases, but by getting away from his keeper, Officer J. L. Abbott of the Massachusetts state prison, who, on a writ of habeas corpus, had taken the convict to Worcester, where Reed was to be tried in the superior court, Monday, on three charges—one of larceny and two of assault on Clinton officers.

Reed and the officer reached Worcester Sunday about 5 P. M. and they went directly to the Sherwood House, where the buncoco man was visited by his counsel, Col. W. A. Gile of Worcester. Officer Abbott remained with Reed throughout the evening, being present when Reed's wife visited him. Abbott says he had been told to leave the room shortly after midnight, and that when he returned a few minutes later Reed had disappeared. A hurried search was made of the hotel and then the police of Worcester and the surrounding towns were notified. Reed stole the overcoat of Proprietor Harley before fleeing from the hotel.

Reed may have escaped from the city by boarding a freight train, but it is probable that he had assistance and that the manner of his flight had been arranged by confederates.

When Reed operated so extensively throughout New England, last year, he had many aliases, the principal ones being Spencer and Greenhalge. He was caught in Clinton, Nov. 10, after a long chase. He was taken from there and arraigned in several places, and cash bail was put up in each case by unknown friends, until his freedom had been secured by the depositing of $17,500 in the treasuries of different counties. He jumped his bail, forfeiting the $17,500. On Jan. 10 of this year he was captured in Philadelphia, and on requisition papers was brought back to Massachusetts. He was then confined in the jail at East Cambridge.

His first conviction was secured at East Cambridge on March 8, when he was found guilty of the larceny of $1200 from Salina D. Hardy, a Framingham farmer. Judge Bishop imposed a sentence of not more than five years nor less than four years in the state prison. Again on March 14, Reed was convicted in the East Cambridge court, and for the larceny of $9000 from Charles Sweetser of Chelmsford. He was given an additional sentence of from four to five years in the state prison. Later on he was convicted in Plymouth county court of larceny, and he was given an additional sentence of from three to four years in the Charlestown institution. This makes a term of not less than 11 years or more than 14 years that he was serving at the time of his escape.

Reed's home was in Plainfield, N. J., where he lived in luxury. The residents of that town supposed he was a gentleman of leisure, and despite the fact that he was known to travel extensively, he never had the finger of suspicion pointed at him until after his arrest in Philadelphia. It was a long time before the citizens of Plainfield could be made to believe that "Mr. Spencer," as he was known there, was guilty of the charges of swindling brought against him. It is generally believed that Reed, at the time of his capture, was one of the leading men in a huge swindling syndicate, with his headquarters in the West.

THE VERMONT NEWS.

The Vermont Conference.

Woman's Home Missionary Society Held at Plainfield Oct. 26 and 27—Resolution Against the McGary Bill.

The annual meeting of the Vermont Conference Woman's Home Missionary Society was held at Plainfield Oct. 26 and 27. An inspiring address was given Wednesday evening by the president, Mrs. Mary Barry Webb of Bradford, and several papers of marked excellence were presented.

Mrs. Webb was reflected president; Mrs. E. C. Kimer, Lower Cabot, was chosen to the office of corresponding secretary; Mrs. C. S. Richmond of Northfield, recording secretary; Mrs. F. W. Lewis of Bellows Falls, treasurer; Mrs. E. A. Barrett of Bradford, secretary of supplies; Mrs. John Vaughn of Barre, superintendent of young people's work; Mrs. Anna Worthing of Montpelier, superintendent of literature; Mrs. M. L. Atkins of Cabot, mite box secretary.

Among the resolutions passed was the following: Whereas, there is now pending before our state legislature a measure called the McGary bill, which proposes to institute license or local option for the present prohibitory law, and whereas, we consider that such a measure is utterly inimical to the best interests of our state, and a direct menace to our homes and every principle for which the Woman's Home Missionary Society stands, and Whereas, the so-called referendum makes no provision for an expression of opinion on the part of one-half the state's most loyal citizens, viz., the mothers, wives and sisters, the most vitally concerned in this commonwealth by such an enactment, be it therefore Resolved, that the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Vermont Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, assembled at Plainfield this 27th day of October, 1898, do call upon that honorable body, the legislature of Vermont, our representatives, to defeat the McGary bill or any other bill, high or low, as being vicious in principle and powerless as a cure for the evils of intemperance, as subversive of justice, a sin against God and a crime against humanity.

Some Sensational Features

To a Marriage Which Appeared Very Romantic—Why a Bennington Bride Is in Seclusion.

The recent marriage of Miss M. Jennie Larkin of Bennington Centre to Thomas Lamm, at Williamstown, Mass., which appeared to be very romantic, now seems to have some sensational features. Up to the time of the announcement of her marriage to Mr. Lamm, it was supposed that she was to marry a young lawyer, her engagement having been reported several months before. The next morning after her marriage she returned alone, resigned her position, and the following noon accompanied her husband to Pawnee, where her mother was visiting, to inform her of the marriage. Mr. Lamm, who was apparently about 20 years of age, told plausible stories of his business, where his home was, and that he had just received a legacy of several thousand dollars. It was found that he had been a former lover of the young woman, but that they had become separated through some misunderstanding. It has also been learned that she made her clandestine visit about a month before she met him in Williamstown.

The mother did not appear to approve of the marriage and set to work to find out who Mr. Lamm was. He claimed to have a mother in Falmouth, N. Y., as well as property there. She wrote to the postmaster there, making inquiries, and he replied that Mr. Lamm had no mother living there, but had a wife. Further investigations showed that Mr. Lamm was a married man, having at least two wives living before he married this one. The mother learned that they were in Springfield, and, going there, found the bride, the groom being away on a business trip. She took her daughter and started for home, arriving in Bennington last week.

Guy H. Reynolds Dead.

He Gained Notoriety on Account of Lawsuits in Which He Was Involved.

Guy H. Reynolds of Rutland died Saturday in New York city from bronchial pneumonia. His wife is seriously ill. His father is John B. Reynolds of Rutland. Mrs. John B. Reynolds, his step-mother, was a sister of Mrs. Daniel B. Fayerweather, the millionaire leather merchant, whose estate has been in litigation several years. Mrs. Fayerweather died at the Reynolds home in Rutland two or three years ago.

Young Reynolds had been very much in the public eye on account of several lawsuits in which he was involved. His wife was Anne de la Roche of Rutland, an estimable woman, but Lillian Allen, a young woman of striking beauty, claimed to have been married secretly to him in Saratoga in 1888, and to have lived with him in New York and St. Louis several years. Lillian Allen claimed large damages and the case was in the court repeatedly.

Ex-Judge Charles Donahue, acting as referee, filed a report deciding that Miss Allen and Guy Reynolds were married in Saratoga. Reynolds then started in to show that Miss Allen's witnesses had committed perjury. Reynolds' real wife stood devotedly by him during all the scandalous litigation.

Suicide of a Wealthy Resident.

George Cutler, a wealthy resident of East Montpelier, committed suicide Monday by hanging. The deed was committed in his barn, about three-quarters of a mile from the village, on the road to North Montpelier. He had been in poor health for some time and it is thought that depression had unbalanced him mentally, causing him to take his life. He is survived by a widow and one child.

St. Anthony's Roman Catholic church of White River Junction was dedicated Sunday in the presence of 1000 people. Bishop Michael spoke a few words of congratulation and pronounced the episcopal benediction. The building is of brick and granite with a handsome interior. It was built at an expense of $30,000.

Dr. W. Seward Webb is to give a reception to the officers of the Third United States cavalry at Shelburne, the afternoon of Nov. 12. The governor of Vermont and staff and state officers, the officers of the 21st regiment, United States infantry, stationed at Plattsburg, the officers of the United States army and navy residing in Vermont, the officers of the First regiment Vermont infantry volunteers of the war with Spain; the officers of the Vermont National Guard and representatives of the Vermont commandary Military Order of the Royal Legion, and of other patriotic societies have been invited to meet Dr. Webb's guests.
